

Senior Social Scientist Division of Health Policy and Clinical Effectiveness

Cincinnati Children's at a Glance

The Division of Health Policy and Clinical Effectiveness within Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center is seeking a Senior Social Scientist (Full Professor) to add methodological and substantive depth to our growing programs of research. We are seeking an applied social or behavioral scientist (PhD, ScD) with research interests in improving health and health care. The ideal candidate will have an established record of funding for action-oriented research; be capable of and interested in mentoring junior and mid-level faculty; have a history and capability of effective research collaborations; be familiar with systems thinking; and have applied, used, or developed innovative methods in social, behavioral, or implementation research.

Cincinnati Children's has recognized the compelling need to advance child and adolescent Health Services Research by integrating health services, outcomes and quality improvement research; developing innovations in care delivery; and conducting bench to bedside to community translational research in multiple settings. To achieve this ambitious mission we are engaged in the research and innovation occurring in multiple centers and programs throughout the medical center.

As an integral part of Health Services Research team, you will:

- Play a critical, highly visible role in achieving CCHMC's strategic objective to retain and grow our leadership position in the area of research in improving child health by enhancing ongoing successful activities and initiating new ones.
- Have the opportunity to establish collaborative relationships with other investigators within and across divisions.

The Hospital

At a time when many health care organizations are struggling, Cincinnati Children's remains a vibrant and exciting organization committed to being the leader in improving child health

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center (CCHMC) is a leading medical research and teaching hospital consistently ranking among the top 10 pediatric hospitals in the nation. Established in 1883, we are a full-service, not-for-profit pediatric academic medical center with 511 licensed beds. Last year alone, we had the privilege of caring for children from 41 countries and all 50 states. Cooperation and collaboration transcends all aspects of the institution allowing us to meet our education, research and clinical care mission.

Cincinnati – an extraordinary quality of life

Cincinnati is one of America's most venerable river cities. Nearly two million people make their homes in the tri-state hub of southwestern Ohio. The people of Cincinnati make it a special place to live and enjoy all the amenities of a big city, with the warmth of a small town. The area is rich in cultural activities that will appeal to every taste. Additionally, Greater Cincinnati has an outstanding educational system, with some 50 public school districts and nearly 300 private schools. All this combined with a diverse economy, which includes a growing biomedical industry and outstanding airline service make for an extraordinary quality of life.
